Integral Diagnostics secures 5 year contract with Western Australian Country Health Services

Melbourne, 16 November 2016: Integral Diagnostics Limited (ASX: IDX) is pleased to announce its contract with the Western Australian Country Health Services (WACHS), to provide radiology reporting and procedural services (Services) at selected sites, has been renewed and expanded.

Under the agreement, Integral Diagnostics will continue to provide the Services in the following regions:

- Goldfields
- Wheatbelt
- Pilbara.

In addition, Integral Diagnostics will provide the Services in the following additional regions:

- South West Inland
- Kimberley.

The Services will be provided over a five-year period and generate revenue of $49.8 million to Integral Diagnostics over this period. Revenue from the renewed Services has been included in Integral Diagnostic's 2017 financial year budget, with incremental revenue from the expanded Services flowing from the 2018 financial year.

Commenting on the awarding of this contract, Integral Diagnostics' CEO John Livingston said: "We are delighted to have been re-appointed by the Western Australian Country Health Services to support the delivery of radiology services to regional sites in Western Australia."

"The West Australian market is a key growth market for Integral Diagnostics, and one in which we have a unique platform from which to provide cutting edge radiology services to regional communities in Western Australia. We look forward to delivering our services to a growing number of West Australians, and expanding our scope of services into new regional markets," added Mr Livingston.
